

FM 544 Bids Sought

BY PAM TROBOY

Bids on the widening of FM 544 will be taken at 10 a.m. on Dec. 14, the City Council agreed Monday night.

The long-awaited improvements to the major thoroughfare will begin early in 1977. Ross Jacobs of Shimek, Roring, Jacobs and Finklea estimated that costs would run about $1.1 million.

Plans call for the roadway to be widened to four lanes (24 feet) from Westwood Dr. to Independence Pkwy. with the major intersections at Custer Rd. and Independence to be built to the ultimate width—six lanes.

The project has been made possible by a unique agreement with the state highway department. The city agreed to build the thoroughfare in reduced scope with bond funds in return for the state's promise that FM 544 would be widened to six lanes and extended to Coit Rd. at state expense. Funds expended by the city now will be credited to Plano's share of the costs of the extension.

Council members also heard a request from Dale Williamson, local manager of Lone Star Gas Co., for an additional $330,330 in revenues which would, he said, bring the company's rate of return to eight percent.

The gas official reminded the council that Lone Star was paying an average $1.0399 for natural gas at the time of the last rate increase. That cost has now risen to $1.3488 for an increase of 30.89 cents per thousand cubic feet (Mcf), he said.

Under a Railroad Commission order the company is forced to absorb 15 percent of the cost of gas above a base price of 72 cents. Williamson said the unrecovered costs have affected the company's position in the marketplace.

"Lone Star Gas can no longer bid competitively for gas," he stressed. "In 1974 the gas purchased represented 80 percent of the amount sold and in 1975 only 65 percent of that sold. With the continuation of less than 100 percent replacement, the company is looking at year-round curtailments."

Howard Robinson asked the council to turn down the company's request which would add about $2.15 per month (based on eight Mcf) to the average bill. Agreeing that the company has problems, he suggested that Lone Star solve them in the courts.

City Gives Go-Ahead On Widening Project

"They are not in bankruptcy," he reminded. "They are surviving. They are not absorbing the costs as ordered by the Railroad Commission—they get it in the rate increase."

Robinson recommended that Lone Star sue Coastal States for not honoring contracts for the purchase of gas and the Railroad Commission for allowing Coastal States to avoid its contracts.

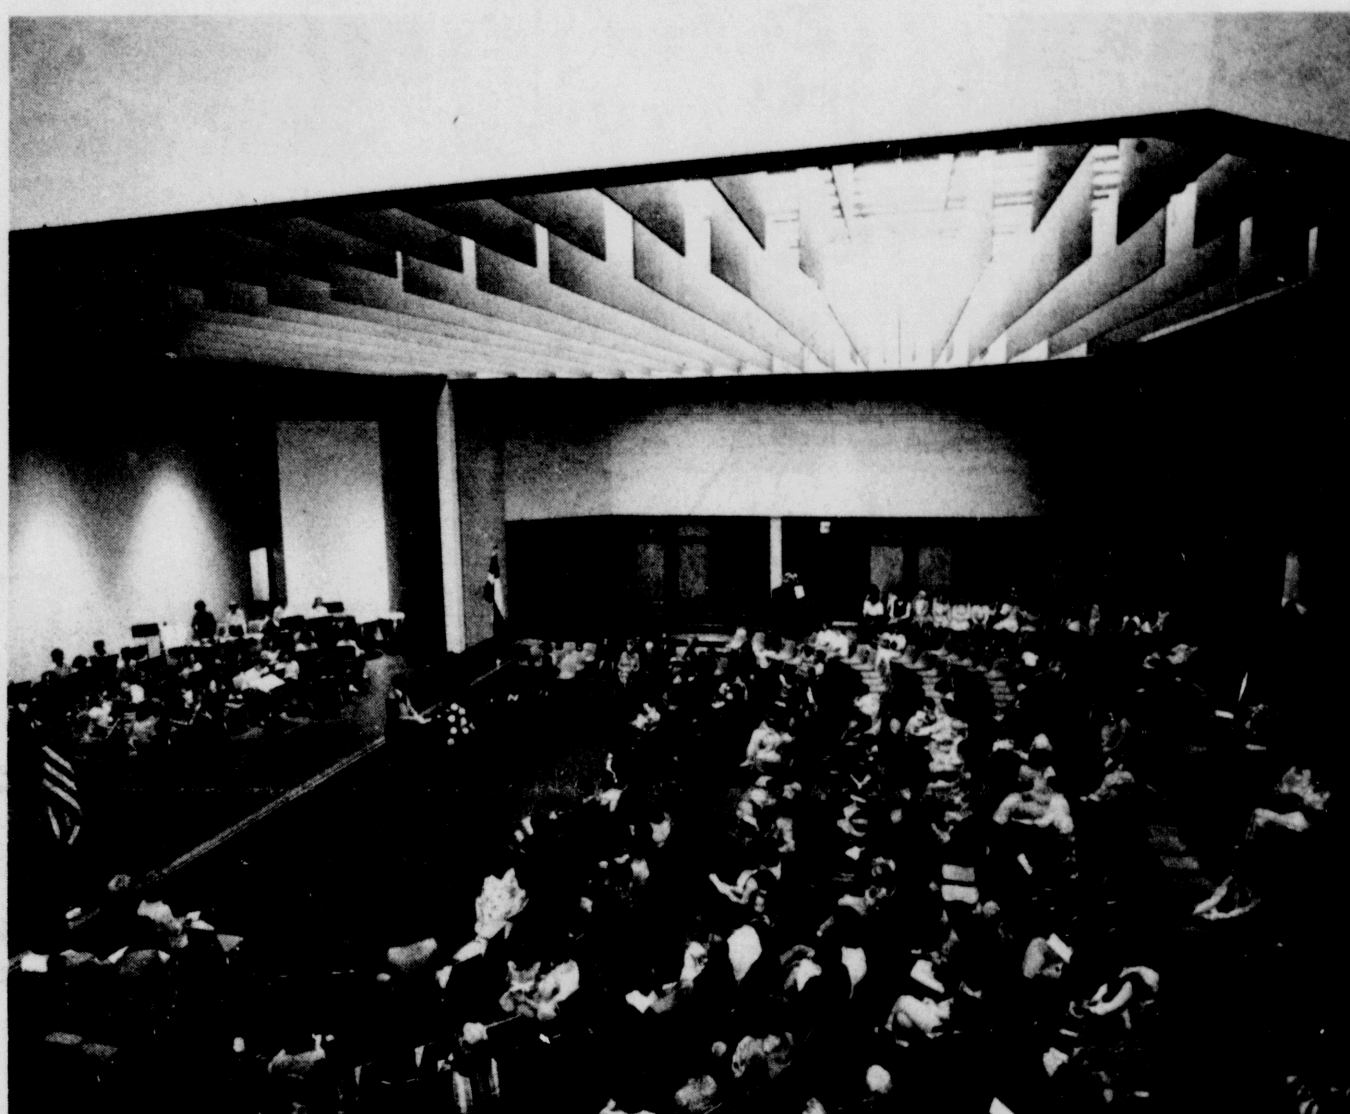

The public hearing on the rate increase was recessed until the council's committee and consultant on the matter can make a recommendation. Written testimony will be accepted until Nov. 15 at the Municipal Building.

In a related matter, the council suspended the proposed rates from going into operation on Nov. 15. Lone Star will now be forced to wait 120 days beyond that date before implementing the rates. It is expected that there will be ample time for a council ruling on the proposal before the time limit expires.

The council also approved the concept of serving the Russell Basin through the Brown Branch sewer line. Bill Parsons of Cambridge Companies said his company is prepared to pay the initial costs of such a proposal for the promise that the repayment of oversize will be placed before the voters at the next bond election.

The 3500-acre basin would normally be served by the Rowlett trunk, but the latter is a flood plain line which is about 10 to 15 years away. It is expected that the North Texas Municipal Water District will assume responsibility for the line since it would be a regional facility. Much of the flow into the line would be from western Allen.

New Tax Rate Okayed

Commissioners Approve 93-Cent Rate

After the confusion and delay caused by computer errors on the county tax roll, the Collin County Commissioners Court Monday unanimously adopted a revised tax levy of 93 cents per $100 valuation on county residents.

Along with the revised tax levy came approval of five amendments to the approved county budget for the coming fiscal year—all but one designed to save costs.

The commissioners voted to delay implementation of salary and expense allowance increases until Dec. 1, and also agreed to delay hiring of new personnel until Jan. 1. They voted to reduce appropriations for libraries in the county by $4,200 to $13,800, and to reduce appropriations for professional services by $15,000 to $27,500.

The sole increase was to raise the appropriation for the Child Welfare Dept. from $15,289 to $20,000.

The commissioners also canvassed returns from the Nov. 2 General Election and unanimously approved the results, then approved the appointment of Elizabeth J. Gray as a civil clerk in the Sheriff's Dept.

In other activity, the commissioners approved the October financial statement and accounts payable for Collin Memorial Hospital, and approved an emergency bid award to S&H Roofing Co. of Dallas for repairing the Courthouse roof.

According to a county spokesman, large leaks in the 199th District Courtroom and in several offices on the third floor led to the emergency measure. Cost of the repairs is expected to be $3,045.60.

In executive session, the commissioners approved the appointment of Joe Steenbergen of Precinct 5 Justice of the Peace and Bob Bell as Precinct 5 Constable to take place as soon as possible. A swearing-in ceremony is planned for 5 p.m. Wednesday in the County Government Center in Plano.

A 24-year-old man is in custody today for the Monday night armed robbery of the Fisca Self-Service station in the 1900 block of Avenue K.

The suspect who was arrested just north of the station shortly after the 9:06 p.m. robbery is being held on $25,000 bond. He will be transferred to the Collin County Jail later today as investigation into the robbery continues.

Investigation is also continuing on seven burglaries which were reported over the weekend.

Police said five homes and two autos were burglarized during the three-day period. Five thefts and eight cases of criminal mischief were also reported.

Seven persons were arrested including a 52-year-old man on Dallas Police Dept. and Dallas County warrants, a 17-year-old man for possession of marijuana, an 18-year-old man for possession of marijuana, an 18-year-old man for public intoxication, a 26-year-old for driving while intoxicated, a 24-year-old man on Texas Highway Dept. warrants and a 24-year-old man for driving while intoxicated.

Officers answered 199 calls for assistance and investigated eight accidents. Billie W. Bland of 413 Vista Del Sol stopped at a railroad crossing on Jupiter Rd. about one-tenth mile south of Chrysler St. at 5:35 a.m. Saturday and fell asleep. His 1976 Pontiac rolled through the crossing signal arm and struck a Cotton Belt Railway train. The engineer of the train was John Pinneo of Greenville, about $175 damage was done to the crossing arm and Bland sustained minor injuries.

Lessie Clark of 1018 Avenue G also sustained minor injuries in the crash of her 1960 Chevrolet and a 1975 Ford driven by Harold Wayne Johnson of McKinney at 1:35 p.m. Friday at the intersection of Avenue K and 14th St.

Also sustaining minor injuries was Robin Ann Keyes of 910 21st St. Her 1975 Volkswagen and a 1967 Mercury driven by Lonnie Brown Jr. of 1524 Francis were in collision at 4:02 p.m. Sunday on Park Blvd. about 165 feet east of Avenue N.

A 1975 Toyota driven by Martha Anne Scott of Allen overturned Saturday at 6:05 p.m. on SH 5 about 50 feet south of Chapparral when Scott attempted to miss a dog crossing the road.

A 1970 Ford driven by Paul Ray Rickard of 3437 Glenwood struck a tree and tipped over Sunday at 12:30

Sparse Turnout

Shown here are a few of the 8213 Plano area residents who turned out for their free swine flu shots this weekend at the public clinics—approximately 20 percent of Plano's estimated population, or about 40 percent of its estimated adult population. Countywide, the turnout was 12,593, estimated to be 28 percent of the county's overall adult population—a poor showing, according to public health officials. A final countywide free inoculation clinic was scheduled Monday and it will be conducted from 4 to 6 p.m. Thursday at the Roundtree Elementary School in Allen. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

STEP Program Gets Refunding

A contract of $62,960 has been awarded to Collin County Sheriff's Dept. by the Texas Office of Traffic Safety to continue the Selective Traffic Enforcement Program (STEP).

In making the announcement, Ken Nevil, administrator of the Texas Traffic Safety Program said the STEP concept has been used in many communities with accident reduction reported in the majority of the initial reports.

Said Nevil, "STEP will utilize off-duty police officers to patrol identified hazardous intersections or roadways with a watchful eye for violations that contribute to accident causes.

The evidence of having these police units at the locations of these potentially dangerous locations can often reduce the number of crashes.

We know the STEPS are having "bottom-line" results in accident reduction," Nevil pointed out that one county-level program had reduced accidents by 80 percent.

The administrator said, "Often police officers have to be working in crime related investigations and traffic safety becomes secondary to the criminal element."

"But, it should be pointed out that almost three times as many people are killed in traffic accidents than are murdered," he continued.

"And, the economic cost contributes billions of dollars each year to our already inflated economy," he added.

The Texas Office of Traffic Safety is a management level program that provides funding and technical assistance to local communities and political jurisdictions.

Scheduled Next Week

Women's Seminar Slated

A special free seminar for Plano area women interested in becoming more involved in strengthening the free enterprise system will be held in Dallas, Nov. 14-17 at Northpark Inn.

The program, entitled "Free Enterprise in Action," is sponsored by National Leadership Methods (NLM) of Austin, a nationally recognized leadership-management organization.

Robert T. "Sonny" Davis, NLM president, said the seminar offers a unique opportunity for women to learn the motivational leadership skills that will enable them to play a prominent role in creating a more positive business climate in this country.

"We want to bring women up to date on current government, political and economic trends affecting the American business climate and to motivate them to become more actively involved in reversing these trends," he said.

The seminar will provide intensive training in the most effective methods for conducting programs on free enterprise concepts and particularly in motivating youth to become more involved in the democratic process. It will also include seven hours of education on contemporary issues.

The seminars are open, without charge, to 250 women. All costs, including meals, training materials and supplies, are underwritten by the local business community, headed by Mr. Jere W. Thompson, president of the Southland

Corp. Women interested in participating should contact

Ms. Laura Hobbs, 9643 Broken Bow in Dallas, at 348-7365.

Third Drop Seen In Interest Rate

The third decrease in the GI home loan interest rate ceiling this year was announced by Administrator of Veterans Affairs Richard L. Roudsbush.

The new maximum rate, effective October 18, is eight percent, a reduction from 8.5 set on March 30. The rate had been decreased from nine percent to 8.75 on Jan. 5.

For a veteran buying a home with a 30-year, $30,000 GI loan, the 0.5 percent decrease lowers the monthly payment by about $10.50. It could result in a savings of almost $3,800 over the life of a 30-year loan, Roudsbush said.

The rate change does not affect existing loans. Once a loan is made, the interest rate remains the same for the life of the loan.

The eight-percent rate was agreed upon jointly with the Dept. of Housing and Urban Development. An increased supply of mortgage money is the principal reason for the lower interest rate, Roudsbush said.

The VA guarantees loans made by private lenders to eligible veterans, unmarried surviving spouses and active-duty military people. During fiscal year 1976 the VA guaranteed almost $10 billion in home loans, a record dollar volume.

Baha'i Community Invites Public

On Friday, Nov. 12, the Baha'i Community of Plano will be observing the birth of Baha-u-llah, the Prophet Founder of the Baha'i Faith. The public is invited to attend this meeting at 8 p.m. in the Texas Power & Light Bldg. Community Room, 1130 15th St.

Special guest speaker will be Mrs. Nancy Dobbins, a graduate of Texas Christian University. Mrs. Dobbins is currently employed as a teacher in Fort Worth Public School System and she has written many articles and chaired seminars on the Baha'i Faith.

As a national Baha'i teacher she has spoken at all the major universities in Texas and also the University of Chicago, Northwestern University (Evanston, Ill.), Southern (Baton Rouge), Southwestern Baptist Seminary (Fort Worth), and Brice College of the Bible at TCU. The Baha'i teaching work has carried her to many states including much work with the Indians in Arkansas.

The Baha'i Faith was founded by Baha-u-llah who was born in Tehran, Iran, Nov. 12, 1817. Baha-u-llah's mission was to reawaken the spirit of faith in the world and reawaken man's realization of himself as a spiritual being.

Baha-u-llah stated, "We desire but the good of the world and the happiness of nations. That all nations should become one in faith and all men as brothers; that the bonds of affection and unity between the sons of men should be strengthened; that diversity of religions should cease, and differences of race be annulled."

In an Energy Efficient Home... it's the things you can't see which can save the most money.

Texas Power & Light has an important new program of help for home owners, home buyers and home builders. TP&L's "135-Point Energy Efficient Home Plan" is a complete guide for savings on the cost of electricity in the home.

The program is explained in a 16-page booklet which is yours for the asking. The booklet tells not only how to get the most efficient use of electric appliances and equipment you now have, but things to consider in selecting replacement or additional appliances and equipment.

The most valuable part of the booklet is the 135-point rating checklist which you can use to measure the energy efficiency of your present home or one you may be planning to buy or build. You'll learn how it's the things you can't see... construction and insulation of the home, location and installation of heating and cooling ducts, etc.... which can save the most money.

For your copy of the "135-Point Energy Efficient Home Plan" booklet, visit, call or write a Texas Power & Light Company office...it's yours without cost or obligation.

Dedication Honors Pioneer

Descendant Gives Address

A good crowd was on hand Sunday afternoon for the formal dedication of Armstrong Middle School, named for Francis Marion Armstrong, a Confederate Army veteran who homesteaded land now occupied by the University of Texas at Dallas with his wife Julia Maria McCleary and their two children, William Charles Armstrong and Elizabeth Armstrong Aldridge. Highlights of the dedication was an address by Taylor Armstrong, a grandson, and music by the Armstrong Apache Band and Choir. (Staff photos by Mike Newman).

Cambridge Companies owns about 1100 acres of the land available in the basin. The Brown Branch line which is primarily for the use of the Multi-Purpose Complex and its immediate vicinity will be built slightly larger (three inches) to accommodate initial development in the Russell Basin. The Brown Branch should be able to serve about 1500 acres of the Basin, according to Jacobs.

In other action, Louise Sherrill asked the council to reaffirm its preference of remaining in the North Central Texas Council of Governments. She said a sub-committee of the Inter-Governmental Affairs Committee has recommended that Collin County and its political sub-divisions be shifted to the Sherman-Denison COG.

Robert Ellis refused to vote for such a resolution because of NCTCOG's advocate position on the expansion of Shiloh Airport. He said that rather than promoting the mutual benefit of its members as is intended, the COG has "promoted the interests of Richardson and Dallas landowners."

"NCTCOG has kicked Plano in the teeth four times," he said, reminding the council of the city's resolutions and efforts against the airport. "This is asking us to kiss their pointed toes with our bloody lips."

The resolution was passed on a 4-1 vote.

The only other controversy of the night occurred when an amendment to the zoning ordinance was tabled to determine whether the Central Business District should be included in screening provisions.

The debated section requires in part that items offered for sale and displayed in the open shall be located back of the required front yard line. City Attorney Bill Roberts will research whether the CBD has a front yard line.

Roberts was the initiator of an approved ordinance banning astrology, fortune-telling and related businesses. He said he drew up the ordinance because he felt these types of businesses would be "committing frauds upon the community."

The attorney said it was taken verbatim from an ordinance of Costa Mesa, Calif., which the Supreme Court has refused to review. During discussion, magic was stricken from the ordinance and the words "except by licensed practitioners of medicine" were added to hypnotism.

Hartley Gaston and Robert Dry Jr. were appointed to the Human Relations Commission and the council selected Alexander Grant & Co. as the city's data processing consultant.

Tors To Visit Plano

Thursday at PSHS

KEN COOPER

ROY TURNER

KYLE ROTE JR.

Principals, teachers and students from the Plano public schools system will become "athletes-for-a-day" in a fun-filled sports exhibition with the Dallas Tornado Soccer Club at the Plano High School gym Thursday, Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Tornado players appearing in the exhibition will be goalkeeper Ken Cooper, striker Kyle Rote, Jr., mid-fielders Roy Turner and Bobby Kessen and defenders Bobby Moffat and Neil Cohen.

Plano's "athletes-for-a-day" will try their sports skills against the Tornado players in volleyball, basketball and indoor soccer.

The Plano principals will begin the action, playing the Tornado in a game of "soccer volleyball" (regular volleyball with one rule change—the Tornado players can not use their hands, only their feet and heads as in soccer).

Then the teachers from Plano High School will challenge the Tornado in a 10-minute basketball game. Finally, a group of Plano High School students will play the Tornado a 20-minute indoor soccer game.

Preceding the sports action, the Tornado players will present a short soccer clinic, demonstrating their championship soccer skills.

Tickets for the exhibition Thursday may be purchased at Plano High School. Proceeds from the exhibition will benefit the Plano High School intramural program.

Reincarnation Is Examined

Over 400 'Regressions' On Tape

By GREGORY JENSEN
LONDON (UPI) — In South Wales today lives a young housewife who saw the Roman emperor Constantine learning swordsmanship in the year 286. Her husband was his tutor.

She remembers meeting King Henry VIII before he married any of his wives. She remembers, under hypnosis, dying in 1190 in a massacre at York and recalls meticulous details about a medieval French merchant of whom, when wide awake, she has never heard.

This woman and her six previous "lives" are among the weird cases related in a new BBC-TV documentary and a book, "More Lives Than One," just published by Souvenir Press.

They probe the subject of reincarnation — the ancient belief that people live over and over again.

Both are based on 20 years of work by Arnall Bloxham, a "hypnotherapist" in Cardiff, Wales. Jeffrey Iverson, a BBC producer, learned that Bloxham had tape recorded trance sessions in which more than 400 people "regressed" to previous lives. "If true," Iverson wrote, "then that single famous case of regression, published in 1954 in 'The Search for Bridey Murphy,' was just a tune on an Irish fiddle compared to his symphony of voices."

Iverson and Magnus Magnusson, one of Britain's best known television scientific journalists, listened to many of Bloxham's tapes and decided to investigate some of them. It took a year.

"We visited places where these 'regressions' were set," Magnusson wrote. "We checked and cross-checked against known or presumed historic facts. We spoke to historians, archaeologists, archivists, psychologists."

Time and again, Iverson said, "the regressions were consistently and surprisingly accurate historically. Not just places, names and dates were corroborated but so was the 'sense of period,' the background detail of dress and attitude."

Six of the most vivid "regressions" recorded by hypnotist Bloxham were made by one woman, the

Welsh housewife Iverson calls "Jane Evans."

She "remembered" being an American nun who died in 1920, an 18th century sewing girl in the London of Queen Anne, a Jewess in 12th century York.

Her other previous "lives" happened to brush those of Constantine the Great, Henry VIII, Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain, Catherine of Aragon and a 15th century French merchant named Jacques Coeur.

Awake, Jane Evans had never heard of Jacques Coeur. She has never been in his part of France and knows nothing of medieval life there.

Yet Iverson used her recorded "memories" as an accurate guide when visiting Coeur's still-standing house. He found her every reference to prominent 15th century French personalities to be precisely accurate, and her knowledge of "many different levels" of medieval French life complete.

In her "regression" as a Jewess killed in the York massacre, Mrs. Evans relived her own murder in the basement of a church. None of York's surviving ancient churches has a crypt or basement.

With Prof. Barrie Dobson of the University of York, Iverson pinpointed the church she apparently described, although Mrs. Evans has never been in York. Six months later, Dobson wrote him that "a workman accidentally found something that seems to have been a crypt — very rare in York — under the chance of that church."

Iverson persuaded Mrs. Evans to be hypnotized again for the television documentary cameras. "After an interval of more than five years she reiterated, with only minor differences, the complex outlines of two of the original Bloxham tapes," he said.

Mrs. Evans' "regressions" were unusual in recalling famous people and noteworthy events. Most of the "lives" Bloxham uncovered are sheer tedium.

"Most of my tapes are of deadly dull, ordinary people who have lived and died, having done nothing whatsoever," he said.

Yet all of them, under hypnosis, spoke as if they were actually living in the periods and situations they described.

Each had "total belief in the reality of the events unfolding in the mind," Iverson said. They spoke in different personalities, different vocabularies, had different attitudes.

One subject fully identified in the book is Graham Huxtable of Swansea. He "doesn't believe in reincarnation, has never been to sea, never served in the navy nor had any interest in the topic."

Yet under hypnosis Huxtable "became" a seaman aboard a British frigate two centuries ago. His voice changed, he used archaic naval slang, spoke in terms alien to himself and to modern times.

In a chilling passage he re-experiences a battle where a cannon ball shoots off his leg. His tape so intrigued Prince Philip and his uncle, Lord Mountbatten, that they had top Admiralty historians investigate it. They found no discrepancy, but no final proof.

Iverson also recounts in detail the "regression" of a north-of-England surveyor who "became" a "17th century undercover agent" on the southwest coast. This spy "earned his living informing on smugglers and getting them hanged." Awake, he had no idea such a profession ever existed.

Iverson said some of Bloxham's subjects recalled "as many as 14 quite separate existences." One lived in the Stone Age. Another was an eye witness to the Great Fire of London in 1666.

Magnusson, Iverson and the experts who heard the tapes unanimously ruled out any question of fraud or hoax. None was totally convinced that the tapes proved that reincarnation was a reality. But Iverson concluded that "Bloxham's 20 years of work must constitute at least a prima facie case for reincarnation."

Star Needs Prison Term, Says Findlay

By K. MACK SISK

"I've never been in jail so I'll never be a star"

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (UPI) — Country singer Kent Findlay figures he'll never make it big as a law-abiding citizen. He needs to go to jail.

But all he gets for his efforts to polish up his outlaw image is continued freedom. He turned rowdy at the famed Terlingua chili cooking contest upon learning the ghost town's new owner hired extra security guards to keep peace among brawling cowboys.

No luck. He just couldn't get busted.

Findlay, a song writer and co-owner of an old warehouse converted to a dance hall, complains his lack of a prison record is keeping him from becoming a star.

He said he is so concerned about his clean record he even wrote a song about it: "I've never rustled goats, got on dope or stole a car, 'I've never been in jail so I'll never be a star."

Findlay noted that country singer Johnny Rodriguez, a native of Sabinal, Tex., was jailed for goat rustling, that Austin's Jerry Jeff Walker got the idea to write "Bojangles" while held in a drunk tank and that many other big country stars have jail records.

"I've grown a beard and wear a big hat, but I still can't get arrested," Findlay lamented. "Until I do nobody will believe I can be a star."

Findlay said he had hopes his 45 rpm recording, "The Plastic Girl," might help get him jailed, but it failed, too, because radio stations won't play the bleeped side of the record.

One side of the recording has all the words of the song which goes into the troubles Findlay has with a "life-size, wife-size, blown up plastic girl." The other side is a cleaned up version of the same song.

"I don't think it's that bad," Findlay said, and asked South Texas disc jockeys why they didn't play it on the air, explaining he'd be mighty pleased if the law came down on him.

"It's us we're worried about going to jail," Findlay said the program directors replied, "and that wouldn't do you any good. You'd still have a clean record."

So Findlay said he would continue roaming the Hill Country playing dates with his six-piece High Cotton Express band and at his warehouse, which he terms "a noncountry club with indoor plumbing."

Findlay, a former school teacher with a master's degree in educational administration, calls his music a mixture of the Austin sound and Texas swing
